

CREATIVE STRATEGIST

Rudy Goel. The results.

I find what makes your customer buy and turn it into hooks and ads. Here's what that did for the account I work on right now.

219

booked sales calls in 5 weeks

343

applications through the funnel I built

62%

of those applications came off one reel I made

497K

impressions, reaching 144K people

RIGHT NOW

Every booked call is a shot at a $2,500 to $6,000 USD coaching sale. Meta now only counts a booked sales call as a result. Last 7 days: 17 booked calls at $18.94 each.

DJ Accelerator, by the numbers

Kishan Bodalia's DJ coaching brand. A high-ticket funnel selling a $2,500 to $6,000 USD programme. Meta ads, Jul to Oct 2026. I run the creative and support the media buying.

Impressions, whole account	496,608
Leads, lifetime	603 at $6.21
Qualified leads since the pixel fix	~138
Top reel, "You're Not Too Old to DJ"	468 leads at $5.14
Top reel impressions	179,217
Top reel click-through rate	7.96%
Applications off one VSL page	223
Best static click-through rates	7% to 13.9%
Average cost per link click	$0.30

How I work

1. Listen first

Reviews, Reddit, comments and the Ad Library. I want the exact words your customers use before I write a single hook.

2. One reason per ad

Every concept goes after one buying reason. That's how you get 15 to 20 concepts a week that don't all say the same thing.

3. Judge on the right number

High CTR can still mean nobody buys. I judge every ad on cost per qualified lead or purchase, twice a week.

What I actually built

The ads, plus everything between the scroll and the sales call.

- The ads. Reels, UGC scripts and statics, each one built around a single reason to buy.
- Three VSL pages, each written for a different buyer. The "not too old" page brought in 223 applications by itself.
- A scoring form that grades every application. Meta only hears about the people who can afford the program.
- The pixel fix. It was firing on a button click. Now it fires on qualified applications, then booked calls. So Meta goes and finds more people who can pay.
- Booked-call emails wired from Calendly into Kit, so more people actually turn up to the call.

Don't take my word for it.

Kishan's page in the Meta Ad Library, 4 Oct 2026. ~15 active ads, all running in the account I work on.

What I'd bring to your brand

- 15 briefs a week, 70% video. Hook, bridge and body, ready for your editors to cut.
- An angle map for both mechanisms. Vein support and lymphatic, mapped to the people who'd buy for each one.
- Support for your media buyer. I'll read the account twice a week and flag what to cut and what to scale, based on CAC.
- Someone who'll tell you when something on the page or the funnel is costing you sales.
